Enhancing Reliability and Resiliency

Over the next five years, PECO is investing billions to modernize the electric grid and reduce the impact of extreme weather on electric infrastructure.

Strengthening our energy infrastructure to face intensifying weather patterns, while supporting more clean energy resources is a key element of PECO's Path to Clean, which includes a goal for PECO and the collective Exelon utilities to reduce operations-driven emissions by 50 percent by 2030 and achieve net-zero emissions by 2050. We're building on our commitment to protect and preserve the environment and combat climate change by playing a leading role in the Greater Philadelphia Region's transition to a clean energy future.

In addition to targeted reliability-focused infrastructure investments, PECO is committed to helping customers by providing a multitude of programs to manage their energy costs and save money. Visit peco.com/PathToClean

On the cover: Hildacy Preserve, Media, PA—Named for Hilda and Cyril Fox (who lived here and raised race horses and German shepherds) these 55 acres are all that remains of a 300-acre land grant from William Penn to a local tanner and his family. Hilda Fox donated the tract to Natural Lands in 1981 with instructions to continue the Foxes' conservation work. Natural Lands has worked to restore the woodlands, meadows, and wetlands to a more natural state. PECO is proud to support these efforts through the PECO Green Region Open Space Program, which is administered by Natural Lands. To learn more, visit natlands.org/peco
