

ELECTRIC RATES TO CHANGE BEGINNING OCTOBER 1, 2021

Beginning with service provided October 1, 2021, the following change will affect your monthly electric bill. For a residential customer using 700 kilowatt-hours (kWh) per month, the effect of this approved change is a total increase of $0.23 to the typical monthly bill, from $101.84 to $102.07, or 0.23%. The enclosed bill reflects this change. Here are the details:

Distribution System Improvement Charge (DSIC): The DSIC, which is shown as a separate line item on your bill, allows PECO to accelerate the modernization of the distribution system through the installation, replacement and relocation of electric equipment and facilities. The DSIC will increase from a value of 0.76% to a value of 1.20%. The charge is $0.64 per month for a typical residential customer using 700 kWh per month. The charge is $2.72 per month for a typical small commercial customer and $37.37 for a typical large commercial customer.
