Important Information About Time-Of-Use Rates:

Time-Of-Use rates may not be appropriate for customers that cannot change the time of day that they rely on electricity, such as those with medical devices that require electricity or customers who are home during peak hours. If you are a low income customer, other programs and rate assistance may be available to help you to afford your bill. Contact PECO at 1-800-774-7040 for more information and to apply.

How does Time-Of-Use work?

Time-Of-Use Pricing offers three pricing periods. When you participate in Time-Of-Use Pricing, you pay a lower price for electricity when you shift your energy usage away from peak usage times.

If you're able to make changes, like using your dishwasher and electric clothes dryer overnight, or precooling by lowering the thermostat overnight, you can realize savings on your energy bill. If you can shift your energy usage, you can save!

When you shift your usage, you may lessen the need for the use of less-efficient and less-environmentally-friendly power plants to meet daytime peak demand.

Shifting energy usage is good for you, good for future generations and good for the environment.

PECO strives to receive regular reads from a meter throughout each day to bill for Time-Of-Use Pricing accurately. Your bill may include charges based on estimated meter readings when extreme weather conditions, emergencies, or other circumstances prevent PECO from receiving an actual meter reading.

This information is for illustrative purposes only. Time-Of-Use Pricing may not be appropriate for all customers. PECO recommends reviewing your bills and considering when your business relies on electricity to determine whether Time-Of-Use Pricing is right for you. (Participation requires choosing PECO for your electric supply. If you currently have an agreement with an alternative supplier, check your supplier contract or ask your supplier to see if there are any penalty/switching fees or cancellation fees before switching or cancelling.)
